Patrick Szabo started his racing career at age 20, when he completed multiple advanced-level racing schools at a few of the most prestigious tracks on the NASCAR circuit. It was in 2011 that Patrick obtained his competition license with the Sports Car Club of America (SCCA) at Summit Point Raceway in West Virginia. Since then, Patrick has raced in the Mid-Atlantic Road Racing Series (MARRS), always finishing well within the top 15.

In an effort to diversify his road racing career, Patrick moved to the National Auto Sport Association (NASA) in 2012 to race Mustangs in the Camaro-Mustang Challenge (CMC) at Virginia International Raceway.

It was just a few months later, when Patrick began driving for B&B Racing, Inc. in the NASCAR Whelen All-American Series. With multiple test sessions in 2013 and 2014, Patrick's first race was at South Boston Speedway in the 2014 racing season. His debut in NASCAR proved to be successful, as he finished within the top 20 each time.

Patrick now enters the 2016 NASCAR season with a diverse racing background on road courses and oval tracks of varying layouts and sizes. He is known as a proven competitor, boasting a 29 percent top-5, 43 percent top-10 and 100 percent top-20 percentage.
